Packaging for tablet-shaped objects, especially hygroscopic detergent tablets, having a sealed secondary packaging and film packs located in the secondary packaging, each pack containing at least one tablet-shaped object. The film packs are sealed by a cross-seam on two ends and one longitudinal seam. The packs are arranged in the secondary packaging such that their longitudinal seams are parallel, the walls of the secondary packaging parallel to the longitudinal seams being reinforced, and at least one of the ends of the packs sealed by the cross-seams is in resilient contact with a wall of the secondary packaging parallel to the cross-seams. The packaging protects the tablets from stress by knocks or pressure.
